

IF YOU WERE CONFUSED by our reporting of the adoption of the so-called "topless ordinance" by the City Council, you have every right to be.

We apparently were confused when we wrote the story.

Admittedly any "nude" or "semi-nude" entertainment, ("topless" for short), in any establishment in town in the future will probably have a difficult time getting a license from the city to operate.

BUT the ordinance does NOT prohibit such entertainment, as the news story implied.

The ordinance, as adopted, specifies that an establishment planning to offer "nude" or "semi-nude" acts, as defined in the ordinance, must pay a license fee of $200 annually.

If specifies further that a permit to operate must be obtained from the City Council and no license shall be issued until the permit is obtained.

AND, here's the clincher: "The City Council on granting a permit, may impose such conditions as they find reasonable."

We guess our story indicated that one of the "reasonable" conditions that would be imposed by the City Council would be that the entertainers would have to wear clothes.

WE STRETCHED a point on that.

The present City Council might very well levy such a condition because most of 'em have indicated they don't think the city needs this type of entertainment.

Or they could find another equally as "reasonable" condition. But a future council could be elected on a "pro-topless" platform.

Then off would come the clothes.

To complicate matters more, legally the two local establishments that presently offer topless acts, can keep right on with 'em.

The ordinance does not affect them.

Anyway we apologize for confusing the issue more by our reporting than it was already.

Apropos of topless our slip showed.

"FLATTERY WILL get you everywhere" is an age-old saying.

But flattery should be tempered with some basis to be effective or impressive.

As a flimsy instance, we were not too impressed by a letter we received recently inviting us to attend the ceremonies setting in place of a unique time capsule in the form of a six-foot, cat-shaped iron sculpture for a savings and loan firm in Los Gatos.

It's not that we did not appreciate the invitation. In fact we were flattered to some extent. But as publisher of The Campbell Press for the past 12 years or so, we felt they were stretching a bit in one paragraph. And we quote:

"The time capsule project is a community affair and as such, we would very much appreciate your presence as one of the leading

PILED HIGH—Campbell's post office in recent weeks has been the scene of bustling activity with long lines of people loaded with packages to be mailed, as in the above photos taken last Saturday afternoon. The post office will revert to its regular hours after Christmas. But it will be open through this Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturday, Dec. 23, from 9 a.m. to noon.

B-RR! B-RR!--All that was missing for a white Christmas was snow. (It might have been too cold for that.) For the record the above photo was taken of the First National Bank thermometer in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center last Thursday morning.

Planners deny town-house plan on Virginia Ave.

By a 4-3 vote, the Planning Commission on Monday night denied a zone change request for property on Virginia Ave., north of Hacienda, on which a 32-unit town-house complex was proposed by the developers, Robert Meyer and associates.

The action reversed a previous action of the commission taken in August.

In August, the commission, with two members absent, had approved the plan by a 3-2 vote. The applicant, however, had withdrawn the application prior to submitting it to the City Council, thus necessitating re-submission.

On Monday night the two commissioners who had been absent in August, Thayer Lyons and Ed Pack, joined Frank Klein and Merrill Grim in voting against the zone change and town-house.

Park commission may get two new members

Two new members may be appointed to the Parks and Recreation Commission next Tuesday, Dec. 26, by the City Council to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations of two commissioners.

Willis Gist and Bill McLain have submitted their resignations. The commission has submitted four names to be considered for appointment by the City Council.

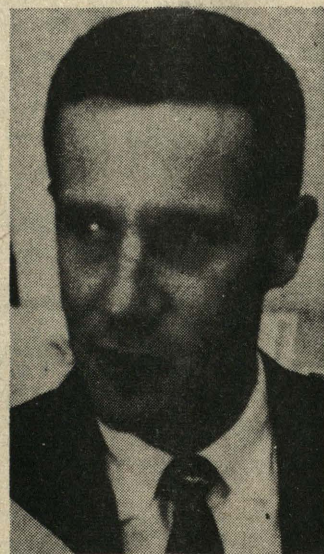

Those recommended are Don Hebard, Hank Cary and Court Watson, who served on the citizens bond campaign committee and Bob Watson, active member of the Sierra Club.

Both Gist and McLain were members of the first Parks and Recreation Commission of the city which was established by ordinance in 1964. They also served on the advisory group that preceded the formation of the commission.

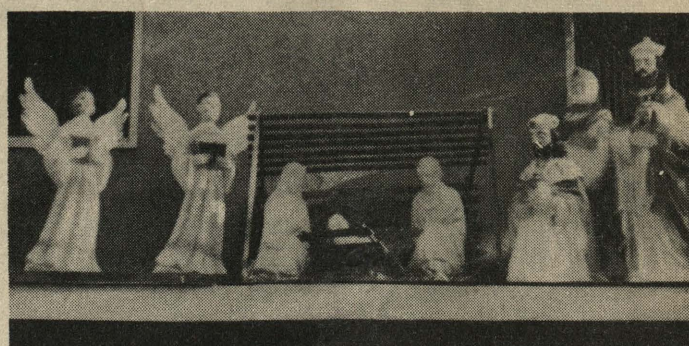

McLain served as chairman of the commission and has long been active in youth (Continued on Page 2)

AFTER 1967 YEARS—Nativity scene on the roof of Roberts Nursing Home, 826 Dry Creek Road, depicts the first Christmas:

And even after 1967 years, its message still rings out loud and clear:

Message offers true meaning of Christmas

This year the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Campbell since January 1961, presents the traditional Christmas message for The Campbell Press.

Before coming to Campbell, the Rev. Gould, native of Pennsylvania and a graduate of Susquehanna University and Westminster Theological Seminary in Maryland, was superintendent of the Shasta District. Prior to that he was pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Chico.

In Campbell, Rev. Gould has directed a large-scale building program for his church and has also been active in civic affairs.

He is a director of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and is chairman of the steering ing committee for the second annual Congress for Community Progress that will be held on Feb. 22.

He and Mrs. Gould, who is librarian at Camden High School, have three daughters and a son.

CHRISTMAS 1967

CHRISTMAS 1967 finds our world "topsy-turvy". It is a difficult day in which to write a Christmas message. Christmas time is a time of gladness—moments when we know what a difference Christ makes. For a little while we smile, we greet others, and there is a song in the air. How easy it would be to fill the page with the sentiments of Christmas that one relishes from the past, but we cannot do this.

Our day is one of turmoil, and man is caught in the mesh of his own making. It is an age of science. Advancement and progress have been so great that the collective mind of man cannot comprehend its magnitude.

Science has taken the absolutes of the past and unfolded the hidden truths. Synthetics have replaced many things and are better in every way. The synthetic is but the discovery of the hidden resources of the ages.

Man has done essentially the same thing to the spiritual and moral values. He has probed, but has not found the truth. He has searched and not found. He has discarded and not replaced the foundations of our heritage. Ours is a heritage based on the spiritual and moral values of Judaic and Christian precepts.

Running through our Constitution are the fundamental rights of each individual. This is essentially God's teaching. We are guaranteed certain rights, but presently these rights are challenged.

Christmas 1967 finds injustice in many areas of life. Hunger, want, and sickness are in many places. Poverty, abject poverty, is the lot of many. There is a blight on our nation and it must be erased. It cannot be done without cooperation of all. There is no panacea—we will grope and stumble, but we must persist. Right in these areas must prevail.

We are the product of the past. The sins of our forebears are placed on our shoulders and forgotten is the good that exists. Nowhere does man have the opportunities that exist in our land. We know we have not translated into life the dreams of our forebears.

Legislation opens the door and announces, but we cannot change man overnight. Man must be the fulfiller. We stand on the threshold of a new day--the atmosphere is explosive and many fear militant prejudice. Some contend that what others have rightfully gained should be theirs. Those who occupy particular places in life emphasize conflicting theories. The result is greater division and prejudice than ever.

Some few have set themselves as judge and jury and alienate others so that rebellion, riots, and restricting the rights of others leads to counter-rebellion. What will be gained? Who will succeed? I shudder when I think of what kind of world we would have if we entrusted its future to the leaders of these unlawful activities.

Every man has the right and freedom of his mind, but not to the extent of destroying the lawful rights and privileges granted to others. We are called to make decisions--difficult decisions that will affect the present and future generations. We review the past and bear once again the stigma of "knowing to do right and doing it not". How pertinent this thought as we prepare for the future: "you shall know the truth" and the truth can set all men free if you follow it.

This Christmas Season let us try to understand each other. Let us ascertain what we would do if we were in another's shoes. No better criteria can be found than the Golden Rule of the ages: "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." How wonderful, how great a social advance if we would practice this truth and not preach it.

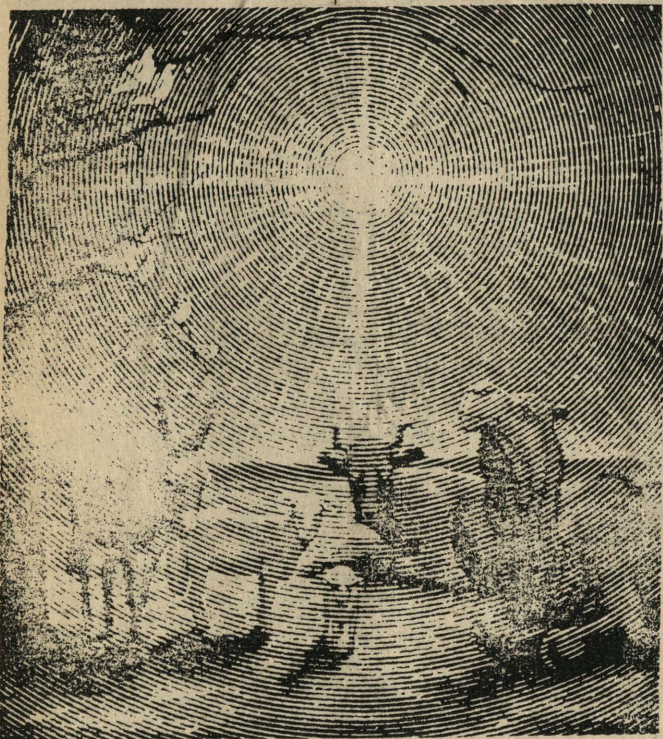

We cannot ignore the fact that ours is not a flawless picture. Our country, and it is our Country, is engaged in war--whether declared or not. Myriads of people are involved--friends, loved ones, others. We are all caught in the web. "War is hell" and few, if any, want to go to hell.

We stand on the sidelines and watch doubts and fears break into rebellion. We are suspicious of all and do nothing. Inner turmoil arouses a small percentage to acts as terrifying as war itself. Selfish, opinionated master-minds stand on a pedestal as judge and jury. Surely we do not want war, and we ought to pursue every right means to wipe it from the experience of all men, but let us do it in a way that will result in peace and goodwill. Let us remember to pray for our leaders and all leaders everywhere.

Yes, it is Christmas time once again. We view our world and fail to see that each one of us is part of the picture. Let your imagination loose and hear God saying to the world, "I will send my Son and He will show you the way." Did God wonder how Christ would be accepted? Through the centuries man has worshipped Him and He has made a difference.

God did His part. He sent His Son and our Christ set the example. This Christmas may you have hope of a better world. Remember time passes and we, too, will pass from the scene. What will we leave behind? We can leave a better world if we resolve this year to keep Christ alive in our daily living. We do not do this by worshipping Him, but by following.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL! Give the world a Christmas present--an example of what you know to be right.

citizens in Los Gatos."

FOR A GUY WHO has been accused (probably rightly so) many, many times for being too provincial in his outlook based on our dedicated Campbell attitude, being classed as a "leading citizen of Los Gatos" is a little much.

Further the deponent sayeth not.

SOME OF YOU MAY recall that some time ago we reported on the activities of Albert Gould, of 167 Rosemary Lane, some 84-years young, who visited his native land, England, last summer. His first visit since he had left these 53 years before.

Gould is a retired horticulturist and was trained in the famous Royal Botanical Gardens in Kew, England. Graduates of "Kew" are scattered all over the world directing park activities.

Gould sent clippings of the story in The Press back to England and one was received by the president-elect of the "Kew Guild" who gratefully acknowledged it and said that he would bear the letter in mind when talking about "overseas Kewites" in his presidential address.

We thought it only natural for the top "Kew" in England to refer to Gould's material as "the Press cutting."

We also enjoyed the special lit in his address: "The Director, Royal Horticultural Society's Garden, Wisley, Ripley, Woking, Surrey."

CIGARETTE SMOKING is a subject that we probably should stay clear of in face of the smoke that has been raised about it.

Those of us who keep puffing away despite the advice, dirty looks and worse we receive from those not addicted, have almost developed a quasi-guilt complex.

We sort of pull out our weeds surreptitiously, and avoid, if possible reading the dire warning in small print on the package.

BUT DURING A RECENT weekend, we puffed and hacked away without reverting to any defensive subterfuge.

Quite in contrast with the usual routine. In a sort of far-fetched way we felt that we might be contributing something tangible by our smoking.

Our friends the George Hills of Orinda were visiting us. They had learned that cigarette ashes mixed with walnut juice would remove stains from their dining room table.

But they needed cigarette ashes.

George is a pipe smoker. His ashes wouldn't do.

Therefore, it fell upon us, as the only cigarette smoker in the group, to offer our service in cause of stain-removing.

and Chairman Jack Healey.

The action on Monday night came after the commission had heard from both the pros and cons.

As was the case the first time around, the opposition to the zone change and the town-house complex stemmed from residents in the adjacent areas who felt that the area should remain zoned for single-family residences.

Representatives of the developers emphasized in their presentation that the original plan had been slightly modified since August to meet some of the objections of the residents.

They pointed out, for example, that the drive-ways had been changed to come off Virginia and thus there would be no traffic at the rear adjacent to the single-family homes. Trash pickup areas would be in front also instead of the rear.

They emphasized also that the town-house concept was more of a cluster of homes rather than apartments and consisted of eight two-bedroom units in each cluster.

They pointed out that the Spanish motif used in the design would make it one of the most attractive buildings in the area.

It was planned to rent the apartments for $180 per month, it was explained. Chairman Healey cut off discussion over the financial feasibility of the project pointing out that this was not the province of the planners. Some of the residents had indicated that they thought it would be impractical to rent the units for that amount.

In presenting their objections, time and again the residents used the "Jean Drive apartments", fairly close to the area in question, as an example of what could happen if apartments were allowed to run down. They emphasized that they did not want that to happen in their area.

Among the residents leading the opposition to the town-house complex were Jack Wade, of 875 LaPlata Plaza; Robert Boomsliiter, of 1231 Virginia; George Swan, of 885 LaPlata Plaza; Bill Dixon, of 916 Bucknam; Ed Kennedy, of 905 Marilyn and Mrs. Madge Overhouse of 885 Pollard.

Wade maintained that the increased traffic and population would be detrimental to the area. He suggested that perhaps one-story duplexes could be the compromise. But it was explained that the commission could not activities of the community. He has served in almost every capacity in the Little League organization.

McLain indicated that, although he was giving up the parks and recreation post because he felt he had served long enough in that field, he would not be adverse to serving on the Planning Commission.

action duplexes, as the issue was not before them.

Dixon emphasized that the residents had purchased homes in the area because of single-family concept and pointed out that if the apartments were allowed, it could mean that the undeveloped area across Virginia would be developed in the same manner.

Although the commission was divided in the final voting, all the members praised the design that had been submitted.

Klein said he was not opposing the design but only the zone change which he felt was unnecessary. The area, in his opinion, could be developed as R-1. Lyons agreed and added that it was an excellent plan but he thought it should go someplace else rather than in a R-1 zone.

Both Grim and Pack indicated the same feeling and they voted for Lyons' motion for denial which was seconded by Klein.

Young in favoring the plan, maintained that it was NOT another "Jean Drive" but an excellent plan which would be bound to improve the area.

Chamberlin said that, while he agreed with the residents in their objections to the zone change, he felt that the design could be setting the tone and pattern for the future, as multiples seem to be the tendency of the future in the entire area.

He wondered, if there was anything either the planners or residents could do to stem the multiple tide. It was important he added, that the right pattern be set and the town-house complex before the commission seemed to be an excellent example of good designing.

The developers did not indicate whether they would appeal the decision to the City Council or come in again with a proposal for duplexes after first contacting the residents in the area.

RAIN DROPS

Recent stormy weather over the state deposited .68 of an inch of rain bringing the total to 3.16 for the year. Normal rainfall is recorded at 4.63 inches with 8.08 inches this time last year.

Planners okay 'Taco' pole sign

Acting on the recommendation of Dick Hogan, planning director, the Planning Commission Monday night continued the hearing on the Union Oil request for a six-month extension for the development of plans for a service station at Union and Central.

Hogan suggested no action be taken until infractions that had been noted at the Union Oil station at Hamilton and Marathon were corrected.

Victor Morrison, representing the oil company, agreed to such action and said that Union Oil had not been aware of the situation at the other station.

In another action, the commission approved a pole sign for Taco Joe's restaurant at Bascom and Fewtrell. The planning director had originally denied the sign which was to be moved to the Bascom location. The applicant agreed to cut the height from 33-feet to 26-feet. The approval granted was for a year, or until Bascom Ave. is widened completely.

City Council meets Tuesday

Campbell City councilmen face a light agenda when they meet in the last meeting for the year on Tuesday, Dec. 26.

Possible appointments to the vacancies on the Parks and Recreation Commission (see separate story) and the naming of an official appraiser for the city for land acquisition will probable highlight the evening.

City Manager Bob Stephens has received eight bids from prospective appraisers and is expected to recommend one of the eight to the council.

Stephens also reported this week that the city has received the first check from the new state tobacco tax covering the period from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15. The check was for $14,701.87, Stephens said.

El Solyo singers to carol again

For the tenth year, the children on El Solyo Street in Campbell will get together to go Christmas caroling in their neighborhood. Originally, the children were quite small, and their repertoire was limited. As time passed, families moved away, children grew up, but for the most part they reconvene for the "Caroling for the Parents."

Originally under the direction of Mrs. Charles Cole, the group has been directed by Mrs. Alberta Camin. In the group this year are many of the original members. Most are now in high school and junior high school, although one member is to be married soon and another is home from Stanford. Expected to sing this year will be Michael and Judy Hernandez, The Schilling family, Merrie and Heide Weiland, Dawne and Darleen Marshall, Stephen and Jeffrey Hodos, Glen, Leslie and Danny Nakamura, Cyndie Cabral, Sarah Cole, Jimmy Francis, Debbie Williams and the Kirk family. At the end of the evening refreshments will be served to the group at one of the parent's homes.

Donald Kennedy will lead Dimes campaign

Donald R. Kennedy, manager of the Bank of America here, will be volunteer director of the March of Dimes against birth defects in Campbell in January, it was announced by Robert W. Hamilton of San Jose, county director.

According to Hamilton, Kennedy is one of the "top drawer" leaders who have accepted positions in the March of Dimes for 1968. His job will be to raise local funds to support the year-round battle against birth defects as carried on by the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Kennedy is a member of Rotary and of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. He has worked with the United Fund, and he previously served with the March

Governor names Judge Rhodes to superior bench

Municipal Judge Richard W. (Dusty) Rhodes, the first and only judge that the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga Municipal Court has had, has been of Dimes as Los Gatos treasurer.

In accepting the appointment, he pointed to the fact that birth defects are the second greatest killer in the United States. Statistics indicate they cause the death of 60,000 children and adults and kill more than half-million babies before they are born.

The national voluntary health agency not only works on treatment of birth defects, but scientists associated with the March of Dimes are investigating a number of hereditary and environmental factors that interfere with the development of the unborn child.

JUDGE RHODES --elevated named Superior Court Judge by Gov. Ronald Reagan. He will take office shortly after the first of the year.

Also appointed to the Superior bench at the same time was Municipal Judge Paul T. Gallagher of San Jose. The two judicial positions were created by the 1967 state legislature.

There has been no indication as yet who will be named to the two vacancies that now exist on the "muni" bench because of the elevation of Rhodes and Gallagher.

Rhodes, 44, a native Californian, is a graduate of Stanford Law School and also received a bachelor's degree from UCLA. He served in World War II, advancing to the rank of lieutenant from that of private.

A resident of Saratoga, Rhodes was a member of a Palo Alto and Saratoga law firm when he was first elected as judge of the judicial district in 1958. The district was subsequently elevated to a municipal court status and Rhodes was elected its first judge.

Judge Rhodes was re-elected without opposition in subsequent elections, including the one last year.

Judge Rhodes has served as president of both the Saratoga Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club. He has also been associated with civic activities in the other communities in his district, including YMCA, Montalvo and the Ming Quong Home in Los Gatos. Judge Rhodes and his wife, Dean, also an attorney, reside at 14784 Vickery Ave., Saratoga.

For the past two years, Judge Rhodes has been the installing officer at the annual Campbell Chamber of Commerce installation dinner. He again will serve in that capacity at the annual affair on Feb. 2 at Villa Felice.

This time it will be in his new role as Superior Judge.

Large families are best at Christmas

by Grace Hebard
What is Christmas without the family? To most of us; the family means Mom and Pop and two or three youngsters. Not so, for three large families on North Second Street in Campbell. Altogether they have 25 children.
The Thomas Tuttle family at 112 N. Second, will have all ten children, ranging from seven months to 17 years around the family table on Christmas Day. In addition there will be other relatives with children. Mrs. Tuttle reports she will roast a 22 pound bird, and hopes to have something "left over" for another meal.
Across the street the

lege background is an added advantage, as well as a background in science or college preparatory courses.

There is no tuition for the course, and students are paid a small stipend, in the form of a scholarship, to help defray expenses. School is conducted on a full-time basis, five days a week, eight hours a day.

Henry Carys at 113 N. Second St. will have their brood of nine with them on Christmas Day. Their youngsters range from two to 18 years. They will hold "open house" the day before Christmas for friends and relatives with children invited to string popcorn and enjoy special holiday refreshments.
The Bernard Guina family at 83 N. Second St. have six youngsters ranging in age from six to 21. They will attend Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve at St. Lucy's Church, and have asked relatives to join them for dinner around the festive board on Christmas Day.
All three families attend St. Lucy's Church, and according to reports on every side, they have enjoyed good relations with each other since they all moved into the neighborhood over ten years ago. Any day when the weather is good, a passer-by will find a football or baseball game in progress in the street.
North Second Street in Campbell is just like any neighborhood street in suburbia, except the ratio of children per family is a little higher.

To all of them, and especially to "Mom", who will be busy in the kitchen most of the time, a very Merry Christmas.

Christmas tree can turn into fire hazard, cautions fire chief

"Don't let the 'jingle bells' you hear in your driveway this Christmas be those of the fire engines!"

That was Fire Chief George Maxwell's reminder that Christmas trees and other traditional decorative symbols of Yuletide can quickly be transformed into sources of destructive fire.

Christmas trees should be freshly cut and kept in water at all times, Chief Maxwell urges. Before setting up your tree, saw off at least an inch of the trunk, at a steep angle so it can absorb the maximum amount of water; then place and keep the tree in water until it is discarded, which should be as soon as possible after Christmas Day.

Never rely on self-applied chemical coatings or solutions to "Flameproof" a natural tree, the Chief warns. None of these processes is completely effective.

In setting up a Christmas tree, place it well away from the fireplace, radiator, stove and other sources of heat. Support it firmly and locate it so that, upright or fallen, it won't block any stairway or doorway.

Choose only lighting equipment which carries the Underwriter's Laboratories (UL) label, indicating it meets safety standards, Chief Maxwell said. If you are using tree lights, extension cords, plugs, etc., already on hand, check them carefully for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. UL-labeled cord sets which have a fuse in the plug are particularly recommended.

ON CAPITOL

with "Charlie" Gubser

With the first session of the 90th Congress now adjourned, Congressional critics will start the yearly process of evaluating its work. Democratic Congressman will point with pride to the few landmark bills which were passed, while Republicans will be making speeches about the constructive influence the GOP exerted on Administration programs. President Johnson, more than likely, will be lambasting Republicans for not giving him everything he wanted.

Personally, I believe the 90th Congress has been good for the American people. I look upon it as the Congress which restored a balance of power and the right of a minority to exert an influence upon national policy.

In 1964, the American people sent the 89th Congress to Washington, a top-heavy majority of which firmly believed in federal and executive domination of national policy. That Congress enacted eighty-four new programs which cost a total of $13.4 billion in fiscal year 1966. Such legislation caused non-defense spending to almost double from $48.6 billion in 1960 to $95.6 billion in 1968.

Senator Mansfield,

the Majority Leader of the Senate, sounded a warning. He said, in speaking of the bills passed in 1965, "Some of them... stand in extreme need of going over... particularly for an assessment of current and ultimate cost."

This is exactly what the 90th Congress has done. The Poverty Program, for example, which has been riddled with inefficiency and outright misuse of federal funds, underwent a searching debate and countless amendments were adopted to tighten up the program. It was held at present expenditure levels and Poverty officials now realize that unless their program is improved it will be completely scuttled in the coming year.

Great Society programs like Model Cities, the Teacher Corps, and several other new programs were cut back or not funded at all. And foreign aid was cut to its lowest level in 20 years.

The abortive Presidential effort to raise taxes and the economy battle between Congress and the President stole the headlines, but actually they were only part of the bigger story of a Congress exerting itself as a co-equal branch of government and the constitutional policy-making body in this country. Congress exercised its constitutional power to insist that the President could not have a tax increase until such time as he practiced economy as well as preached it.

The 89th Congress did not make policy; rather, it rubber-stamped the ideas of an executive branch, none of whom were elected by the people except the President and his chosen running mate.

Perhaps it is the contrast with the 89th Congress which influences me, but personally I liked seeing the 90th Congress reassert it-

California Highway Patrol cautions holiday celebrants

The Christmas holiday weekend officially starts at 6 p. m. Friday, and Captain R. P. Bliss, commander of the California Highway Patrol's San Jose Area, figuratively has his fingers crossed.

"Friday afternoon and self as a co-equal branch of government and give some meaning to our system of checks and balances. For this reason, I think the 90th Congress deserves a very high and satisfactory grade."

evening will see a lot of office Christmas parties, and some of the celebrators will drink more than they should," Captain Bliss said. "We hope they have the good sense to go home in a taxi, or get a friend who has not been drinking to drive them. Otherwise, they will be a menace, not only to themselves, but to everyone else on the highway."

"If they come to the attention of our officers, I hope it is before, not after, they become involved in an accident. We will have a full force working tomorrow, and we'll try very hard to get the drunk drivers off the road before they kill or injure someone, including themselves."

The Patrol commander also had a suggestion for those who plan to take long trips over the Christmas weekend.

"Take a rest break often--at least every two hours--and participate in the National Coffee Safety Stop Program that is being conducted throughout the nation during the Christmas and New Year's weekends."

Many restaurants in California will participate in the program by providing free coffee to travelers during the two holiday weekends. Their purpose is to reduce the holiday death toll by getting road-weary motorists off the highways for safety breaks.

"The coffee rest stop is important, but it is not a cure-all," the CHP commander said. "Urge everyone taking to the highways to drive defensively, obey traffic regulations, and be constantly alert to what other drivers are doing."

NEW CHAIRMAN-- Frank Klein, of 172 Branbury, an engineer with Westinghouse, was elected 1968 chairman of the Planning Commission on Monday night. He succeeds Jack Healey, of 1791 Grace Ave., San Jose, insurance agent, who served as chairman during the past year.

Named vice-chairman was Kel Young, of 430 N. Central, electrical contractor and long-time resident of Campbell.

Capital Countdown

BY SENATOR ALFRED ALQUIST

I'm a firm believer that the government's business is the people's business, and that the legislature should protect the public's right to know what its tax-supported government agencies are doing.

A step in this direction was taken during the 1967 session when we passed AB 495 requiring most state government bodies to conduct their meetings in public.

The legislation is similar to the 1953 Ralph M. Brown Act, which requires local government bodies--such as city councils, boards of supervisors, school district boards, etc.--not only to hold open meetings but to give sufficient advance notice of meetings so the public is advised of the time and place government business will be transacted.

Wording in the Brown Act declares the people should "insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

The new legislation extends this policy to state as well as to local governments.

"In enacting this article," the bill reads, "the legislature finds and declares that it is the intent of the law that actions of state agencies be taken openly and that their deliberation be conducted openly."

In my opinion, the bill is a major effort to guarantee to the public that the public's business be conducted in public.

Now further legislation is being developed concerning public access to state and local government records, and it may be presented to us in January.

Created under a resolution adopted by the Assembly during the present special session, the "Open Meetings and Public Records Advisory Committee" held its first meeting recently to develop the legislation.

In reference to the Brown Act and its new extension, the Committee pointed out that "for 14 years we have had statutory guarantees of public access to meetings of local government, and now we provide the same guarantees at meetings of state agencies."

Four representatives of news media and four local and state government representatives are serving on the committee, which will act as an advisory group to the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

The members represent the office of the state attorney general, the State Bar of California, the California Newspaper Publishers Association, California Broadcasters Association, League of California Cities, County Supervisors Association, Sigma Delta Chi (National Journalistic Society) and California Freedom of Information Committee.

West Valley College students send greetings to armed forces

Three West Valley College students and two officials of the college visited Comedian Bob Hope at his NBC Burbank studio and gave him the "Christmas Scroll" to take with him on his annual pilgrimage to Viet Nam.

Sen. Bradley criticizes new reapportionment

After five weeks of debate, which cost taxpayers over a half a million dollars, the California Legislature finally concluded its special session, the second one of the year. During the session the two houses reapportioned the state's 38 congressional districts pursuant to an order of the California Supreme Court.

State Senator Clark L. Bradley has strongly criticized the court for coercing the state's lawmakers into making this reapportionment.

The Santa Clara-Alameda Counties Legislator criticized both the California and the United States Supreme Courts for "trying to assume the legislative process" in making their decisions.

Bradley, making the statements in his monthly legislative column, also pointed to the relatively recent U. S. Supreme Court decision which forced the 49 State Senates to reapportion along population lines. Prior to that decision the State Senators in California represented a district composed of a county or a group of counties.

The 15 year veteran Legislator added that the action by the courts in assuming to have the right to invade the legislative branch of government is completely wrong. Bradley said "This assumption is completely erroneous and highly detrimental to our American governmental system." He declared that the public "must stand up and oppose this misuse of power before it destroys our 200 year old system of checks and balances between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government."

TURTLES

There are about 80 species of turtles in North America, or about one-fourth of all species.

The scroll contains greetings from more than 2,000 West Valley College students and faculty members, to the members of the Armed Forces overseas, and is described as "a refreshing change from some activities on other campuses in recent days," by President Wallace W. Hall.

The scroll, the brainchild of Kenneth Steffen, vice-president of the Young Republicans club on campus, was first adopted by that club and then as it mushroomed, became a project of the Associated Students of West Valley College.

The scroll is over 15 feet long and three feet wide, and will be taken by Hope and his troupe to the USO in Saigon, and from there distributed to the troops in the field. In addition to greetings, it contains names, addresses and phone numbers of some co-ed students looking for pen-pals.

The table containing the scroll was on campus for one week, and during that time, Steffen said, not one untoward incident occurred, and not one message had to be censored or erased. "It was an amazing display of good will all around," he said.

Taking the scroll to Hope in addition to Steffen were Student Body President Richard Saliccia, and Homecoming Queen Karen Targantos, William Whitney, faculty advisor to the Young Republicans, and Charles Goodman, college public information officer.

They traveled by commercial airliner as guests of Lockheed Missile and Space Corporation.

OFF TO SAIGON--Comedian Bob Hope looks over the 15-foot scroll containing Christmas greetings from more than 2,000 West Valley College students to the men in the Armed Forces overseas. Hope took the scroll with him on his Christmas tour to Vietnam. Shown with Hope are Kenneth Steffen

That at said time no provisions were made for the regulation and licensing of nude or semi-nude entertainment as hereinabove defined and including the display of nude and semi-nude persons as a part thereof.

2. That City of Campbell is a suburban community predominantly residential, with many churches and schools, and the inclusion of business conducting nude or semi-nude entertainment without regulatory provisions will seriously effect the character, peace, health, safety and general welfare of the people of the City of Campbell.

3. That there is a threatened establishment of places of amusement and entertainment employing nude and semi-nude persons in City of Campbell, and these can and will be established without any provision for their regulation unless this ordinance becomes immediately effective.

4. That the establishment of such businesses without regulatory provisions will result in police enforcement problems, an increase in criminal activity, traffic congestion, and deterioration of the neighborhoods where established.

Garage cleaned out by burglar

Charles E. Williams, 44 E. Rosemary, Campbell, reported to police the burglary of approximately $600 in tools, stored furniture and garden equipment from his garage recently. Williams told police he had locked both the doors and windows of his garage before retiring. The latch had been pryed open.

Company representatives who normally have occasion to enter customers' property are uniformed and wear the PG&E emblem on shirts and jackets, the company notes.

"PG&E employees do not perform termite repair services, rewiring jobs, or furnace replacements, nor do they charge for minor adjustments to appliances," PG&E cautions. "Customers are always notified of bill adjustments by mail and should not pay collectors who appear without prior mail notification."

Friday night the Christmas Dance was held in the cafeteria.

Everyone had a wonderful time.

Saturday our varsity wrestling team competed at the Hollister Invitational Tournament along with 15 other schools. The team left at 5:30 a.m. and returned around 12 midnight. Our team came in 2nd place, just four points behind the winning team. Among those who placed were Bob Ducote, first, Don Tackwell, Stu McVay for second, Mitch Vierra, Bernie Surgera and Jerry Adamson for third and George Kujohora placed in fourth. The team did a great job.

Teen Club will be opened three days a week during the vacation.
